The details above reflect the electronic record of your visa held by Immigration New Zealand (INZ). You do not require a visa label in your passport. Do not attempt to alter this letter. It is an offence under the Immigration Act 2009 to use a document that you know has been altered.

Please check that the above visa details match your passport before you travel and contact INZ immediately if there are any errors.

Your resident visa and travel conditions

Your resident visa allows you to live, work, and study in New Zealand indefinitely. It will not expire while you remain in New Zealand. You will have the ability to travel in and out of New Zealand as many times as you like for a certain period after your resident visa is granted. This is called your travel conditions.

Your travel conditions are valid until: See Conditions

Expiry of your resident visa

Your resident visa will expire if you leave New Zealand, and you do not have valid travel conditions that allow you to return as a resident. If you are travelling outside New Zealand and plan to return after your current travel conditions expire, you will need to apply for a variation of travel conditions or a permanent resident visa (if you qualify). However, if you do not leave New Zealand, your resident visa allows you to stay indefinitely.

How can you prove your visa details without a visa label in your passport?

Your employer can verify the details of your visa online using VisaView. With your consent, other people or organisations such as health care providers or travel agents can verify the details of your visa using the Visa Verification Service. See: immigration.govt.nz/visaview.

Do you have a new passport?

If you get a new passport while this visa is still valid, you must request INZ to update your visa details so that they match your new passport. INZ's website has information on how to do this: immigration.govt.nz/transfervisa.

Do you need more information about eVisas?
